Heat oil to 350° F. Add frozen product, fry until golden brown, shake basket occasionally to prevent adhesion.

*Cooking times and temperatures may vary substantially. Test cooked fish by inserting fork at thickest part of the fillet. Fish should flake with gentle pressure, and flesh should be opaque. (Internal temperature should be at least 165°F.)

We strive to produce a fully "boneless" product. As with all fish, however, occasional bones may still be present.

Alaska Cod

Wild Alaska Cod is a large, lean whitefish that's an excellent source of high quality protein. With a sweet flavor, delicate texture and a large melt-in-your-mouth flake, it's well suited for a wide variety of menu applications.

Alaska Pollock

Alaska pollock is the most abundant fish species harvested in Alaska waters. Managed carefully by NOAA Fisheries and certified sustainable by the Marine Stewardship Council, Alaska pollock is an environmentally responsible seafood choice. Cousin to the codfish, its lean, snow-white flesh, delicate texture and mild taste make it one of the most versatile and healthy choices available.
